Snake report 114
Report by James Mahaffy

May 25, 2007  I found this post when searching Ancestry.com for Iowa and rattlesnakes.  This is under the name Lowry in response to someone asking about Iowa Lowry’s.

I have gotten no response from the Lowry board on the location of the cemetery or specifics on the death of David Lowry. I classified this only as a likely (5) since I do not have other details.

http://boards.ancestry.com/surnames.lowry/245.458/mb.ashx

IA Lowrys

David Allen  (View posts) Posted: 3 Nov 2000 6:34PM
Classification: Query
Surnames: Lowry

I am from Iowa and my Grandfathers name was Julius Lowry. Most Lowrys from Iowa are from the southern portion near the border of Missouri. Also there are a few Lowrys buried in the Maryville, MO cemetery too. There is a Lowry Cemetery located in Southern Iowa. The first person to die there was a boy by the name of David Lowry who died from a rattlesnake bite. I will check with my mother, Sandra Allen (Lowry) to get the exact location and see if she has information on a Jas Lowry. E-Mail me back if I forget to get you that info soon.